

"A Productive Day" - 3 June 2024

The Big Sort

The Big Sort involved going to Grant House (Pallock) (in case you don't know... lol) and sorting through all the things left by students. First we sorted bed stuff (pillows, duvets, sheets). After that we went through clothes. And finally everything else (food, appliances, other home stuff). There were sooo many hangers!

EUSA had made a bingo board for us. Every time we found an item that fit one of the categories, we would take photos. I believe there is a thank you event next week where we will go over the photos. I found a totu that ticked one of the boxes (though I don't remember which).

[totu photo]

Some other interesting items were a tiny vial of Whiskey, and airpods (they were mismatched & found in a bottle of soap).

[whisky photo]

[airpod photo]

To Do List

Once home from the Big Sort, I decided to write up a to do list of things to do before Gene was home, since the flat was a bit messy. Unfortunately, (though also fortunately), I did two of these before deciding to make lunch and read your first blog post. This ended up being a many hour long process. I later decided to take advantage of the nice weather and go to Meadows. [window open photo]

On the way, I dropped off some of the party acquisitions at the Bethany Shop.

[donated items photo]

I then sat in Meadows (in the sun) reading through messages of yours & responding to them. As it was actually too bright, I moved into the library to continue.

Work

I went to work. I left the library with under 10 minutes to get there and somehow made it on time (ie I walked only slightly faster than usual). I then worked, but honestly I don't remember any details. So that was that.

Evening

I think I called someone? And then I don't know, they bored me to sleep or something? Not sure. All I remember was starting to write up my response as an email. Oh and I had dinner, bread pudding I think. I'm getting ahead of myself!

Before sleeping other things happened. There was a beautiful prolonged simple sunset.

[sunset photo]

[sunset through window photo]

More excitingly, there was brewing work to do! I went to Oth's to bottle what turned out to be 12+ litres of beer.

We wash bottles to clean & sterilise.

[sterilization photo]

We then siphoned the contents of the three donkeybuds into the (sterile) bucket, and then added sugar, and finally we bottled up all the beer!

[siphoning photo]

Back at home is when I fell asleep. That was my day!

Closing Thoughts

I felt very good about how productive I'd been. I was quite busy, on time to everything, it was a pretty day, we talked a lot (I fell asleep on call which was really very nice).

Much love!

iSabell! ♡